Green Statement: ISOFlex Packaging is committed to recycle, reduce, and produce products that meet or exceed all of our customer's requirements.

Environmental concerns rank high on our list of priorities. This is reflected in the responsible use of environmentally friendly materials. Our Resins are 100% recyclable and are FDA approved. We have a very active program of reprocessing all of our internally generated scrap materials. We have an active manufacturing annual goal of netting 100% of all of our purchased resins.

Our team of engineers, technicians, and customer services specialists have years of experience designing and recommending the best possible products using the minimum amount of raw materials. We actively work with all of the major suppliers of packaging resins to offer new and innovative products that maximize performance and minimize material usage and cost. Superior performance resins are constantly being developed; these are routinely evaluated and incorporated into all of our products.
